

Stick one of these into your books.

Science: Homework

Research and think about the following question. Write a report considering the following question. How is sound useful in your home?

Once you have done this, think about important household items that use sound. Write a paragraph explaining why sound is so important to these items.

Science: Homework

Research and think about the following question. Write a report considering the following question. How is sound useful in your home?

Once you have done this, think about important household items that use sound. Write a paragraph explaining why sound is so important to these items.

Science: Homework

Research and think about the following question. Write a report considering the following question. How is sound useful in your home?

Once you have done this, think about important household items that use sound. Write a paragraph explaining why sound is so important to these items.