~~No. 1. Cairo~~
~~No. 1. Cairo~~
 The Baud has a very easy time & we had no drill or practice for his last work. I wish you could be here and see all these old places that we have often read about. Early all the Baud fellows broke camp the second night and said they had the time of their lives in them. They have all gone to Cairo by train and we will follow them when we have been discharged from the hospital. I have nothing at all wrong with me and am having a better time than I suggest here and daily Buenos, and a lot of pieces in the streets. I hope you are doing alright in the shop and have plenty of work. I saw in an Egyptian paper which Senator Peares gave out in Australia on Dec 4th that we had a narrow escape from the Emden. He said we were less than 100 miles away, when we were within 25 miles. The Emden would have got some of us, as we had no protection at all behind. The Omrah was lost in our division, so we would have stood a big chance of being first to go. Well I haven't much more to say. I told Dad that if Mum does not use my money, for him to use it in the ship. We might not be back for years yet, as we will train him for some months and then go to the front. Tell Mum to still use the same address, as it will find us anywhere we are. Remember me to Fred Chris, and any other old pals. Excuse this paper as it's just about my last sheet, till I get some more. Well I will close now wishing you the best of luck, from your aff. Brother

Ordering a letter

Today you are going to be exploring the structure of letter for your next Big Write.

Mr. Spencer has written a letter to Mrs. Rathbone as Mrs. Rathbone has taken up running a café at St Mary's.

Because Mr. Spencer can be a little bit dopey, his letter is all jumbled up! It is your job to sort this letter into the correct order.

Yours sincerely

Thank you again for such a wonderful meal. I will recommend your café to all my friends, and you will definitely be seeing us again soon!

I recently ate lunch in your café, and I wanted to tell you what a good time my friend and I had. It was one of the most enjoyable lunches I have eaten in town.

Mr Spencer

We were in "St Mary's Cafe" last Saturday lunchtime, and even though it was busy we were served immediately by a very pleasant young man. After ordering our meals, we were able to relax with the delightful view of the Nature Reserve.

Dear Mrs. Rathbone,

The food was the most delicious I have ever had. I chose the salmon and my friend chose the beef. We were thrilled with every aspect of our experience.

Warhorse Comprehension Chapter 12

Today you are going to be exploring the twelfth chapter of our class text.

It will be important to remember to:

-Make sure you answer in full sentences

-Include the question in your answer

-Use the conjunction "because" at least once

-Use evidence from the text to support your answer

-If you can include all of this in each of your answers, your work will be fabulous!

Write the answers in full sentences to the questions on Chapter 12 of Warhorse. Make sure you use Point. Evidence. Explanation. Find it, prove it, show it!

1. How does Joey describe the developments in the war?
2. How does Joey describe the men he is working with?
3. Describe in detail what the conditions were like for the horses.
4. Describe the character of Coco?
5. What happened to Heinie?
6. When horses became ill what happened to them?
7. What did Joey say were killing the horses?
8. Define the following words from the passage. Write their definition then put them into a sentence. Make sure each sentence has a conjunction and makes use of interesting adjectives.
 - excruciatingly (P101)
 - recuperation (P102)
 - intermittently (P103)

Formal or Informal

Today you are going to be comparing formal and informal writing.

Formal language

We use formal language when:
Talking/writing to someone we don't know;
Writing non-fiction such as instructions, explanations or reports;
Writing formal letters.

Just like the man and the baby, formal language is language that sounds smartly dressed.

Formal or Informal

Informal

We use informal language when:

Talking/writing to someone we know well;

Writing letters to friends and close family;

Writing emails and texts to people we know.

Just like the character, informal language is language that is casually dressed.

Formal or Informal

Your task:

Look at the words and phrases on your activity sheet.

Draw a T-table in your book and sort the phrases into either "formal" or "informal" columns.

I want to tell you...

It's going to be great!

This event will be memorable

I wish to advise you that...

I need you to...

Thank you very much

Thanks a lot!

I've just noticed that...

It has come to my attention...

It would be a great help if you would...

Features of a letter

Today you are going to be exploring the basic features of a letter.

Mr. Spencer has already broken your letter up into individual features. All you need to do is label them.

Once you have done this, write a paragraph explaining what you think needs to be included in a letter and why.
